Food bank and donation system pushed in Cavite to combat food waste

TRECE MARTIRES CITY, Cavite (PIA) — The Sangguniang Panlalawigan of Cavite Province is pushing for a measure to establish a Food Bank and Food Donation system to minimize food wastage and provide healthier eating options.

In a Joint Hearing of the Committees on Health, Nutrition, and Population, the Sangguniang Panlalawigan reviewed the provisions of the proposed measure that aimed to deliver healthy meals especially for marginalized sectors.

Board Member Jasmin Maligaya-Bautista said that the proposed Food Donation Program and Food Bank System will help minimize food wastage and push for responsible food consumption.

"Tinalakay po natin ang panukalang ordinansa na naglalayong magtatag ng Food Donation Program and Food Bank System sa lalawigan ng Cavite upang mabawasan ang food wastage at masiguro na ang mga pagkaing maaari pang mapakinabangan ay maipamamahagi sa mga higit na nangangailangan."

Moreover, Maligaya-Bautista expressed her optimism that their collective efforts will bring more programs pushing for environmental protection, responsible consumerism, and malasakit.

"Naniniwala po tayo na sa pamamagitan ng pagtutulungan, mas mapapalawak natin ang mga programang nagtataguyod ng wastong pangangalaga sa kapaligiran, responsableng pagkonsumo, at malasakit sa kapwa."

By diverting produce from becoming food waste, food donation drives help the environment by conserving water, energy and agricultural labor. It also helps address malnutrition among children and the elderly who struggle with food insecurity.

Findings by the Department of Science and Technology-Food and Nutrition Research Institute (DOST-FNRI) show that average daily plate waste rose by 69 percent in 2023 to 130 grams, from 77 grams in 2018 to 2019. Data also showed that Rice remained the most wasted food item, accounting for 64.9 percent of total plate waste, followed by vegetables at 12.9 percent and fish at 9.3 percent.

Plate waste refers to edible food left uneaten after meals, whether discarded or given to animals, reflecting the gap between food prepared and food consumed. (PB-PIA CALABARZON, with reports from Jasmin Maligaya-Bautista)

Cebu Province gets P1.365-B Recovery aid for disaster hit areas

ON THE WATCH

Rico Osmeña

Finally, after a year of waiting, Cebu Province received ₱1.365 billion from the National Government for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of infrastructure and facilities damaged by the magnitude 6.9 earthquake and Typhoon Tino in 2025.

Aside from ₱1.365 billion, an additional ₱777 million funding support for the Department of Public Works and Highways in Central Visayas (DPWH-7) for its ongoing rehabilitation and reconstruction projects related to the twin disasters.

Among the beneficiaries were Bogo City with the biggest allocation at ₱180 million, Municipality of Liloan with ₱115 million, San Remigio and Cebu Province each with ₱100 million, and Danao City with ₱75 million.

The municipalities of Borbon, Sogod, Catmon, Daanbantayan, Compostela, Consolacion, Medellin, Tabogon, Tabuelan and the cities of Toledo, Mandaue and Talisay with each ₱50 million.

While San Francisco received ₱25 million, Asturias and Balamban with ₱ 20 million each while Tudela, Poro, and Pilar in Camotes island had ₱10 million each.

"This would really help us complete our recovery program, so gagamitin namin for the reconstruction of some bridges. So what is intended for the disaster projects should go to the projects. There's no room for corruption," Cebu Governor Pamela Baricuatro said in her speech in Malacañang.

It was the national government who determined the amount of assistance for local government units based on damage assessment reports the LGUs submitted to the Office of Civil Defense (OCD).

The ₱1.365 billion is part of the ₱8.6 billion approved under the Disaster Rehabilitation and Reconstruction Assistance Program (DRRAP).

Cebu secured 15.87 percent as 306 LGUs are to be benefited in the country affected by disasters from 2024 to 2026.

Cebu Realtors cries over decline sales reports

The Association of Real Estate Brokers of the Philippines Movement (ABREP) has called for greater transparency in reported condominium cancellations and more professional rental management due to financing difficulties and oversupply on the Philippine property market.

ABREP Movement President Anthony Leuterio said the reported buyer cancellations and forecasts of steep rental declines should be examined against actual market data, as he warned against broad conclusions without considering differences in financing arrangements, property locations, and management practices.

Leuterio cited a report published in Bilyonaryo quoting Colliers Philippines Research Director Joey Roi Bondoc as saying that 9,000 condominium purchases in Metro Manila were cancelled in the first nine months of 2026, with some buyers unable to secure bank financing or settle the outstanding balances of their units.

Of the cancellations 5,200 involved units still under construction, while 3,800 were already for occupancy. Pasig recorded the highest concentration of backouts, according to Colliers.

He clarified though the reported figure needs to be supported by a clear methodology and a detailed breakdown of the transactions covered, including the developers and banks involved, the period of the study and the reasons for cancellation.

He also called for a distinction between cancellations caused by loan disapprovals and those resulting from other circumstances, such as temporary job losses, employment status, documentation requirements and difficulties, verifying overseas income.

"Some buyers May still qualify for financing through alternative banks or updated documentation," Leuterio said.

Leuterio, who is the founder of Filipino Homes, cautioned against treating all cancellations as permanent losses for developers, noting that some units could eventually be resold.

"A developer , for instance, May record 200 cancellations but subsequently resell 150 of the affected units. While the initial cancellations remain part of the transaction history, the resulting impact on unsold inventory would be different," he stressed.

The Industry should distinguish between initial cancellations, financing -related cancellations, units subsequently resold and those that remain unsold.

On the market rental, Leuterio challenged forecasts of a sharp decline in Metro Manila condominium rents, arguing that Landlords should focus on pricing strategies, marketing and professional property management rather than assume steep rent deductions are inevitable.

Leuterio' s remarks counter forecast by David Leechiu, co-founder of Leechiu Property Consultants, that studio rents in some parts of Metro Manila could fall to as low as ₱5,000 within the next 12 months from previous levels of about ₱30,000 as oversupply intensifies competition among Landlords.

"I don't agree with Leechiu," Leuterio said, arguing that rental performance depends not only on supply but also location, tenant demand, economic conditions and how effectively properties are positioned and managed.

Leuterio is also the founder of Rent.ph. "Rental is not just about pricing. It's about marketing, demand, and professional management," he added. (By RICO MIRASOL OSMEÑA)

17-hr Water interruption bared for Metro Cebu

The Cebu Consumers' Rights Advocates (CCRA) bared on Thursday that a 17- hour water interruption in Metro Cebu is a "grave concern."

CCRA Lead Convenor Nathaniel Chua told DAILY TRIBUNE that it is a grave concern affecting the consumers served by the Metropolitan Cebu Water District (MCWD), as he questioned the resilience of the region's water supply system and its preparedness for prolonged emergencies.

"The interruption raises an important question: If Cebu experienced 17 hours without water, is the region prepared to sustain its water supply during a 72-hour emergency?, " He asked.

Access to clean and reliable water is a basic necessity essential to public health, sanitation, household welfare, and economic activity. Even a temporary disruption can have serious consequences, particularly for hospitals, schools, restaurants, businesses, senior citizens, persons with disabilities, and other vulnerable sectors that depend on a continuous water supply.

Beyond addressing the immediate disruption, CCRA is calling for a comprehensive water security strategy that considers disaster preparedness, possible El Nino conditions, prolonged dry periods, emergency water distribution, and long-term infrastructure improvement.

CCRA warns that Cebu must strengthen its water security measures in anticipation of possible El Nino conditions and prolonged dry periods. The region can not afford to wait until water shortages become widespread before implementating solutions.

As the group calls on MCWD, local government units, water resource managers, and relevant national government agencies to develop a coordinated water security program that prioritizes: 1. Water source security - developing alternative and supplementary water sources, protecting watersheds, and groundwater resources, and promoting rainwater harvesting; 2. Infrastructure resilience -- rehabilitating and expanding existing water infrastructure, reducing water losses from aging and leaking pipelines, and establishing emergency water reserves; and 3.

Emergency Preparedness -- identifying alternative water distribution routes, strengthening coordination among disaster response agencies and water service providers, and educating communities on water conservation and emergency preparedness.

"Water security is a public welfare responsibility," Chua stressed. (By RICO MIRASOL OSMEÑA)

Regional Livestock, Aquaculture launched in Cebu as Central Visayas eyed as Agricultural Tourism hub

The first ever Regional Livestock and Aquaculture assembly was officially launched on Wednesday in Cebu City.

The assembly aims to establish a vital Regional hub for advancing the livestock, poultry, Aquaculture, and Agriculture industries in the Visayas region.

"The launch of the very first regional shows in Cebu strategically expands the organizational reach to directly support and cover the vibrant, high-potential Agricultural market in the Visayas region," said Ms. Rungphech Chitanuwat, the Country General Manager of Informa Markets Philippines.

These premiere International events gather global suppliers, local producers, and industry experts to address the distinct Agricultural challenges, climate dynamics, and market opportunities unique to the Visayas and broader Philippine regions.

Co-located with specialized aquaculture trade fairs and aquaculture conferences, the comprehensive exhibition showcases cutting-edge technologies, sustainable farming practices, and high-efficiency machinery, industry professionals have immediate, free access to indoor exhibitions, technical seminars, and networking platforms designed to optimize production chains and strengthen climate resilience in local farming.

Modernizing Philippine Agriculture is a critical national requirement to protect rural livelihoods, stabilize food prices, and build resilience against severe climate and disease threats. As an economic engine and employs nearly 20 percent of the Filipino workforce and contributes 7.5 percent to the national GDP, the sector is foundational to everyday survival.

Furthermore, sustaining livestock, poultry, and Aquaculture, which make up over a third of total agricultural output -- is vital for food security to prevent devasting food inflation. Ultimately, adopting smart farming technology serves as a necessary climate defense, shielding the country's food supplies from extreme typhoons, temperature shifts, and catastrophic biosecurity risks like African Swine Fever (ASF).

For the Philippine Inno Ventures Agriculture Cooperative (PIVAC) , the assembly is a strategic partnership bringing the gap between the dedication of the Visayas farmers and aquaculture producers and the cutting-edge knowledge, technologies, and networks necessary to help cooperative enterprises thrive.

"By combining forces, we are creating an elite space for producers, industry leaders, and researchers to build lasting alliances, tap into new markets, and turn shared innovation into long-term prosperity," said PIVAC Chairperson Rey Calooy.

Aside from Luzon, Visayas and Mindanao based attendees, seven other countries such as Taiwan, China, Singapore, Netherlands and Thailand showcased their latest technologies. (By RICO MIRASOL OSMEÑA)

Ating tatalakayin ang mga bagong kaganapan at estratehikong pagbabago sa Bureau of Customs (BOC), partikular na ang mga mahahalagang turnover ceremony sa Port of Subic, Port of Zamboanga, at maging sa Enforcement and Security Service (ESS).

Pormal na tinanggap ng BOC-Port of Subic ang kanilang bagong District Collector, si Atty. Noah Dimaporo. Humalili si Atty. Dimaporo kay Atty. Geniefelle P. Lagmay, na kilala sa kanyang mahusay na pamumuno kung saan naitaguyod ang operational efficiency ng port, napalakas ang border protection, napahusay ang trade facilitation, at napanatili ang magandang revenue collection performance. Sa kanyang bagong responsibilidad, inaasahang ipagpapatuloy ni Atty. Dimaporo ang mga sinimulang inisyatiba at tagumpay habang pinapalakas ang pangako ng Bureau sa pagpapadali ng lehitimong kalakalan at epektibong koleksyon ng kita. ****

Samantala, umalingawngaw ang mainit na balita sa Port of Zamboanga kung saan pormal na idinaos ang turnover of command noong November 11, 2026, para sa pagbabalik ni Segundo Sigmundfreud "Jun" Barte Jr. bilang District Collector. Ang pagbabagong ito ay nagmamarka ng transition ng pamumuno mula kay Atty. Manuel O. Zurbito Jr., na opisyal nang lumipat sa kanyang bagong tungkulin bilang Director ng Enforcement and Security Service (ESS) sa ilalim ng Customs Enforcement Group. Si Collector Barte Jr. ay may subok nang track record sa Zamboanga—kung saan nagsilbi siyang District Collector mula 2018 hanggang February 2023 at tinanghal ang port bilang isang "Billionaire's Port" noong 2020 na umabot sa ₱9 bilyon ang cumulative collection revenues. Bukod dito, pinangunahan din niya ang agresibong border protection operations na nagresulta sa historic apprehensions ng mga kontrabando, dahilan upang makatanggap ang BOC-POZ ng magkakasunod na Special Commendation Awards mula sa Japan Tobacco International (JTI) Philippines mula 2019 hanggang 2022.

Kasabay nito, pormal ring isinagawa ang turnover ceremony sa ESS upang salubungin ang bagong direktor nitong si Atty. Manuel O. Zurbito Jr., na pinangunahan at ipinag-utos ni EG Deputy Commissioner Nolasco Bathan, kasama ang outgoing acting director na si Collector VI Gen. Noel Estanislao. Bitbit ni Atty. Zurbito sa ESS ang kanyang napatunayang husay at karanasan mula sa Port of Zamboanga—kabilang ang sunud-sunod na revenue surpluses at pinaigting na operasyon laban sa smuggling kabilang ang kooperasyon sa INTERPOL. Sa kanyang pag-upo, inaasahang mas titibay pa ang pambansang hanay ng mga operatiba sa border security, maritime surveillance, at pagpapatupad ng batas. Taos-puso ring nagpaabot ng pasasalamat at pagkilala ang mga opisyal at tauhan ng BOC-Port of Zamboanga kay Atty. Zurbito para sa kanyang adbokasiya sa kapakanan ng empleyado at open governance na nag-iwan ng matatag na benchmark ng kahusayan.

Ang mga pagbabagong ito sa pamumuno ay sumasalamin sa patuloy na pagsisikap ng Bureau of Customs na mapahusay ang kanilang serbisyo at palakasin ang mandato. Asahan nating ang mga batikang lider na ito ay magdadala ng positibong pagbabago at mag-aambag sa pagsulong ng bansa. Patuloy nating subaybayan ang mga balita sa BOC at suportahan ang kanilang mga adhikain para sa isang mas matatag, transparent, at episyenteng customs administration.

Bulacan: From Gateway to a Premier Travel Destination

KATROPA N'YO

Vic Billones III

Bulacan is more than a mere transit point; it is a province defined by natural wonders, historic landmarks, authentic local cuisine, and warm hospitality.

With the New Manila International Airport (Bulacan International Airport) scheduled for partial operations by late 2028, the province is poised to experience a significant influx of domestic and international visitors.

Governor Daniel R. Fernando aims to transform Bulacan into a premier tourist destination. During the Singkaban Festival, he remarked, “Ang Bulacan ay hindi na dadaanan lamang kundi lalawigang bibisitahin, mamahalin, at babalik-balikan.” Furthermore, Bulacan’s recognition as the third safest province in the Philippines for 2025 underscores its commitment to visitor security. Tourism, alongside manufacturing and construction, is a primary source of employment for Bulakenyos. The provincial government continues to support local arts, heritage sites, traditional crafts, the Kalutong Bulakenyo food program, and annual events such as the Singkaban Festival. San Miguel Corporation Chairman Ramon Ang stated that the new airport will create opportunities for the growth of local tourism businesses.

Travelers can explore Maranat Falls and other natural sites, tea rose marble formations in San Miguel, and historic landmarks such as Real de Kakarong de Sili, Barasoain Church, Casa Real Shrine, and the Philippine Arena in Bocaue. For food enthusiasts, Bulacan offers local favorites like sukang Paombong and inipit, alongside numerous “eat-all-you-can” restaurants in Malolos City, Santa Maria, and other municipalities.

Tsk! Tsk! Tsk! Through research and the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we share this story so more people may discover Bulacan’s beauty and bright future. As our province prepares to greet more guests, we hope visitors will respect our heritage and nature, support our local workers and small businesses, and remember that the Lord provides help and strength for all our good works.-

Bulacan Bolsters Peace and Order With New Vehicles for Law Enforcement

To strengthen police presence, speed up emergency response, and intensify anti-criminality efforts, the Provincial Government of Bulacan, led by Governor Daniel R. Fernando, formally turned over new vehicles and motorcycles to various law enforcement agencies during a ceremony at the Bulacan Capitol Gymnasium.

The donation includes two Toyota Rush units, one for the Criminal Investigation and Detection Group and another for the Highway Patrol Group. plus one Toyota Hilux for the Bulacan Police Provincial Office Special Weapons and Tactics team, and 24 motorcycles distributed to police stations across the province.

Governor Fernando emphasized that maintaining peace and order requires steady partnership between the local government and the police force. “This is to thank you for our cooperation to make Bulacan one of the safest places in the entire country,” the governor said during the turnover.

PNP Regional Office 3 Regional Director P/BGen. Jess B. Mendez, represented by Bulacan Police Provincial Director P/Col. Jay B. Baybayan, noted that the new equipment will help officers reach communities faster, expand visibility in barangays, and improve operational readiness. He also shared a key achievement: in October alone, the region recorded the arrest of 1,503 wanted persons, the highest monthly total in the region’s history.

“Let us repay this trust by using the equipment provided to us, performing our duties in a disciplined manner, and providing service with concrete results. With every patrol, every response, and every operation, let us continue to make our countrymen feel service that is fast, honest, and truly felt,” Mendez told the officers. “ Tsk! Tsk! Tsk! Providing the right tools helps our police serve us better. We hope these new vehicles lead to safer streets and quicker help for every Bulakenyo.Bulacan: From Gateway to a Premier Travel Destination.

Beyond the Reservoir: How Bulacan is Preparing Together for El Niño

The province of Bulacan, along with the rest of the country, is preparing for the effects of El Niño, a period of warmer, drier weather that means less rainfall for our watersheds. Data from PAGASA shows the Angat watershed has received only about sixty-nine percent of its normal rainfall, with the months of January through April expected to be significantly drier than usual. Angat Dam currently stands at around two hundred nine meters — enough for now, but not something we can take for granted. As Governor Daniel R. Fernando reminds us, we should not live as though we have plenty today and have nothing left tomorrow. That is why we must start conserving right now.

Many people wonder what actually happens when the dam's water level drops. When the elevation falls below one hundred eighty meters, the main power-generating units can no longer operate, but this does not mean water for irrigation stops flowing. It is simply diverted through Ipo Dam instead. Even when levels drop further down to one hundred sixty meters, a low-level outlet and bypass system continues to channel water toward Ipo Dam and onward to Metro Manila, Rizal, Cavite, and Bulacan. By this stage in the season, crop water needs are naturally lower, so supply can still be maintained.

In the past, levels reached as low as one hundred fifty meters, yet there were no reported water interruptions anywhere, thanks to careful management and alternative sources. It is important to note that while overall domestic allocation from Angat Dam has been gradually reduced from fifty to fifty-two cubic meters per second down to forty-four to conserve reserves, Bulacan's share of five cubic meters per second has remained unchanged and fully protected.

Should the need ever arise to release water through the spillway, the authorities have improved their warning system to ensure communities are never caught off guard. The notice period has been extended from six hours to a full twenty-four hours before gates are opened, real-time updates are shared through a dedicated Viber group linking all local disaster response offices, and patrol vehicles travel through riverside barangays to spread the word. It takes roughly two hours for released water to reach the downstream communities of Maragay and Matiktik Bridge, and priority advisories are always sent to the towns of Calumpit, Hagonoy, and Paombong. Throughout all the years Angat Dam has operated, there has never been an untoward incident caused by water releases, and that is something the management team remains deeply committed to maintaining.

Preparation for El Niño goes far beyond just managing reservoir levels, as retired Police Colonel Manuel Lukban Jr., head of the Bulacan Provincial Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Office, explained. Every sector is planning ahead, agriculture, livelihood, and even peace and order, so that the province knows exactly where resources can be found if they are ever needed. The province has set aside financial safety nets including the Quick Response Fund, a Trust Fund, and the General Fund — sources that stand ready to support communities in a time of need. Crucially, though, nothing is allocated or spent until there is a real necessity, because the priority remains clear: protecting our daily water supply for drinking, for washing, for farming, and for life itself.

Governor Daniel R. Fernando called on every Bulakenyo and every Filipino to join hands in facing this challenge, emphasizing that we do not rely on hope alone — we rely on action. Simple changes at home make a real difference: turning off faucets while brushing teeth, taking shorter showers, reducing unnecessary water use, and remembering that even groundwater levels drop during prolonged dry weather. Planting trees in our mountains and watersheds remains one of our most powerful long-term defenses, because a healthy forest protects the water we all depend on.

The Governor reminded everyone that water is more precious than almost anything else we have, and that our farmers and their crops must always come first. Working together, conserving together, and caring together — he said it best: we can do this. Kayang-kaya natin ito.

Tsk! Tsk! Tsk! Information for this article was gathered from a briefing held on November 11, 2026, at the Angat River / Angat Dam site, with Director Manuel Lukban Jr., Engr. Marites dela Sera, and Governor Daniel R. Fernando. This is our own summary and interpretation.

PBBM HIGIT NA UMAASANG MAS PALALAKASIN PA NG BAGONG COMMANDANT VADM SUPANGAN ANG PCG PARA SA BAYAN

Mga katoto hindi nagkamali ng pagpili ng kapalit ng bagong PCG Commandant ang ating butihing Pangulo PBBM sa nagretirong ni dating Kumandante ng Philippine Coast Guard Admiral Ronie Gil Gavan, kung saan ang mapalad na naging kapalit ay si katotong Vice Admiral Rommel Supangan na sadyang karapatdapat bunga ng dekada ng naglingkod at subok na sa kakayahan, may malasakit, at may angking talino na alalaumbagay taglay ang dakilang layuning maitaas ang antas ng PCG para sa bayan, kelangan pa bang imemorize iyan mga katoto!!!

Pinamunuan ni katotong Pangulong Ferdinand Marcos Jr. noong Lunes ang Seremonya ng Pagpapalit ng Kumander ng Philippine Coast Guard (PCG), kasama ang pormal na paglipat ng pamumuno sa bagong Komandante, si Vice Admiral Rommel Supangan mula sa papalabas na Komandante Ronnie Gil Gavan na pormal na nagretiro sa serbisyo noong Oktubre 19, 2026.

Sinabi ng Pangulo na inaasahan niya ang isang pinalakas na Coast Guard sa ilalim ng bagong pamumuno ni Admiral Supangan. Binigyan din niya ng nararapat na pagkilala ang mga nagawa ni Admiral Gavan sa loob ng kanyang tatlong dekada ng serbisyo publiko.

"Kay Vice Admiral Rommel Supangan, binabati kita sa iyong paghirang. Ang iyong mga dekada ng karanasan sa mga operasyon at pamumuno sa maritima ay naghanda sa iyo para sa responsibilidad na ito. Tiwala ako na iyong palalawakin ang mga nagawa ng iyong hinalinhan, na lalong magpapalakas sa Philippine Coast Guard nang may buong suporta ng administrasyong ito," sabi ng punong ehekutibo sa seremonya sa Pier 13, South Harbor, Port Area, Maynila.

"Sa ilalim ng pamumuno ni Admiral Gavan, pinalakas ng Coast Guard ang kakayahan nitong protektahan ang mga buhay sa dagat at tumugon sa mga emergency. Pinaniniwalaan ninyo ang Philippine Coast Guard ng may integridad at katapatan sa tungkulin. Sa ilalim ng iyong pamumuno, lalo itong (PCG) naging handa, matatag, at maaasahan," dagdag ng Pangulo.

Binanggit ni Transportation Secretary Banoy Lopez ang tiwala ng Pangulo sa pagtatalaga kay Vice Admiral Supangan bilang bagong PCG Commandant. Nagpahayag din siya ng pasasalamat kay Admiral Gavan para sa kanyang mahalagang papel sa modernisasyon ng PCG.

"To Commandant Supangan, welcome to the DOTr family. Let us continue working together for the good of our country and our people. Nagpapasalamat din tayo kay Admiral Gavan sa magandang liderato na inyong ipinakita at sa suporta nyo sa pagsusulong natin ng modernisasyon sa PCG. Ang Coast Guardians ngayon ay maaasahan natin na hindi natin nalaman ang karagatan, kundi pati na rin ang biyahe at higit sa lahat sa pagtugon sa gitna at gitna ng mga kababayan, Lopez said.

Bago ang kanyang pagkakatalaga bilang ika-31 na PCG Commandant, si Vice Admiral Supangan ay ang Commander ng Coast Guard Marine Environmental Protection Command (MEPCOM), kung saan pinamunuan niya ang mga programa at pakikipagsosyo na naglalayong palakasin ang proteksyon sa kapaligirang pandagat sa buong bansa.

Isang miyembro ng Philippine Military Academy "Marilag" Class of 1995, si Vice Admiral Supangan ay may degree sa Naval System Engineering at Master of Science in Maritime Affairs, na nag-major sa Marine Environment and Ocean Management, mula sa World Maritime University sa Malmö, Sweden, kung saan siya nag-aral bilang Sasakawa Fellow ng Nippon Foundation.

Ngayon, sa pamumuno ng PCG, pamumunuan ni Vice Admiral Supangan ang Coast Guardians sa kaligtasan sa dagat, seguridad sa dagat, pagpapatupad ng batas sa dagat, paghahanap at pagsagip sa dagat, at proteksyon sa kapaligirang pandagat.

"Ang mga soberanong patrol ng PCG, lalo na sa West Philippine Sea, ay susuporta sa whole-of-government approach upang igiit ang aming soberanya at mga soberanong karapatan. Paninindigan namin ang aming mga karapatan, at gagawin namin ito nang may dignidad, integridad, at lubos na determinasyon," sabi ng bagong PCG Commandant.

Samantala, sa ilalim ni Admiral Gavan, ang PCG ay nakapagsagawa ng halos 5,000 na operasyon sa paghahanap at pagsagip, nakapagligtas ng mahigit 22,700 indibidwal, nakapagpabuti ng kakayahan sa pagtugon sa emerhensiya, nakapagprotekta sa mga komunidad sa panahon ng sakuna at bagyo, at nakapagpakilos ng mga tauhan at sasakyang-dagat para sa pagsagip at pagtulong kabilang ang preemptive evacuation ng 630,000 katao bago ang bagyo.

"Mabilis, napakabilis na nagmo-modernize ang Philippine Coast Guard. Mas maraming tao, mas maraming barko, at sasakyang panghimpapawid. At sa lalong madaling panahon, isang world-class na Pambansang Punong Tanggapan, bukod sa marami pang iba, ang itatatag. At kahit papaano, nakikita na tayo ngayon bilang inspirasyon ng ating mga kasamahan kung paano pinakamahusay na maisasagawa ang coastguarding. At buong pagpapakumbaba kong iniiwan ang mga ito nang may buong kumpiyansa sa aking karapat-dapat na kahalili," sabi ni Admiral Gavan.

GREETINGS: Special greetings and sincere gratitude to the President and CEO, Mr. Joseph "buddy"Madrigal and Chairman, Mr. Jefferson Cheng and also thanks to Special Assistant to the Chairman, Ms. Shirley Reniedo for your continued support kindness, thank you very much! God bless u more!!!

Guest Stakeholders, Partners Honored as CvSU Imus Turns 23

IMUS CITY, CAVITE — Twenty-three years of stories, service, and excellence took center stage as Cavite State University – Imus City Campus celebrated its 23rd Founding Anniversary on November 12-13, 2026, at the campus gymnasium.

Anchored on the theme "23 Years of Ascending Stories, Service, and Excellence" and the guiding motto " CvSU ASCEND — Truth, Integrity, Excellence, & Service," the two-day celebration brought together students, faculty, non-academic personnel, alumni, and partners who have journeyed with the campus since its founding in 2003.

The celebration opened with an Ecumenical Thanksgiving, followed by a ribbon-cutting ceremony and the opening of the trade fair exhibit. The gymnasium was transformed with green and yellow drapery, floral arrangements, and a large anniversary backdrop — a fitting stage for a campus marking more than two decades of growth.

Student performances, including a choir and dance numbers in shimmering costumes, energized the crowd, while the recognition program became the emotional highlight of the celebration.

In the recognition program, the campus honored its Guest Stakeholders and Partners — individuals and organizations whose support, collaboration, and service have helped CvSU Imus ascend through the years.

Among those recognized was Webster Ace Paginag, media practitioner and partner of the campus, who received a Certificate of Recognition / Appreciation on stage together with fellow stakeholders, faculty, and students. The award was presented before the university community, with awardees posing for group photos holding their certificates and plaques.

For Paginag, the recognition was not just a personal milestone, but a reminder of the shared mission between the media and the academe — to tell stories that matter, to serve with integrity, and to uplift the community.

"Do nothing out of selfish ambition or vain conceit. Rather, in humility value others above yourselves." — Philippians 2:3

That verse, he said, captures the spirit of the award: true partnership is not about being recognized, but about serving others and giving back to the institution that continues to shape young lives.

The anniversary celebration also recognized outstanding students, faculty, and staff with Certificates of Recognition and Appreciation, underscoring CvSU Imus' commitment to honoring excellence in all its forms — inside the classroom and beyond.

Honored to receive this Certificate of Recognition on behalf of Dateline Weekly Newspaper is Mr. Webster Ace C. Paginag, Editor-In-Chief together with Dr. Agnes C. Francisco, PhD Campus Administrator CvSU Imus Campus, Atty. Tricia Marie V. Barzaga, City of Imus Administrator and Dr. Mary Jane D. Tepora, Vice President for Planning and Development, during the 23rd Founding Anniversary celebration of Cavite State University - Imus City Campus

As CvSU Imus closes its 23rd year, the campus looks forward to continuing its ascent — with more stories to tell, more lives to transform, and more partnerships to build in the years to come.

QUEZON CITY, 6 November 2026 — President Ferdinand R. Marcos Jr. has appointed Emmanuel De Leon Samson as the new Member of the Social Security Commission (SSC), the policy-making body of the Social Security System (SSS).

Samson brings to the Commission more than 40 years of senior executive experience in banking, finance, corporate governance, and risk management.

He will serve as one of the SSC Members representing the Employers' Group. He replaces Victor Alfonso A. Limlingan Jr., whom President Marcos appointed last month as the new SSS President and Chief Executive Officer.

Extensive finance and governance experience

Samson's career spans international and domestic banking, equity brokerage, financial planning, asset management, client relationship management, and project management.

In January 2026, he was designated Special Envoy of the President of the Republic of the Philippines to the Kingdom of Thailand.

Samson previously served as a Member of the Board of Trustees of the Government Service Insurance System (GSIS) from November 2023 to October 2025. During his tenure, he chaired the GSIS Risk Oversight Committee and the Provident Fund.

He also served as a Member of the Board of Directors of the National Reinsurance Corporation from April 2025 to October 2025.

His experience in risk oversight and corporate governance is expected to contribute to the SSC's mandate of setting policies for the SSS and ensuring the prudent stewardship of members' contributions and fund investments.

Leadership in banking and finance

Samson has held senior leadership roles in major Philippine and international financial institutions.

He served as Lead Independent Director of CTS Global Equity Group, the largest global proprietary trading firm in the Philippines and is publicly listed on the Philippine Stock Exchange.

Samson was also Chief Finance Officer of Nickel Asia Corporation, where he was responsible for the planning, implementation, and management of the company's finance activities, including budgeting, forecasting, treasury, and risk management.

Earlier in his career, Samson worked with Credit Agricole Indosuez Manila Offshore Branch, Indosuez W.I. Carr Securities (Phils.), Inc., Amon Securities Corporation, and Rizal Commercial Banking Corporation.

Samson earned his Bachelor of Arts degree, major in Economics, History, and Political Science, from De La Salle University in Manila in December 1981. His extensive experience in finance, risk management, and corporate governance is expected to further strengthen the SSC's capacity to safeguard the long-term sustainability of the SSS and protect the interests of its members, pensioners, and their beneficiaries. (JOHN D.
